RAIN AND SNOW HAD NO EFFECT ON PYTHIAN DANCE

THANKSGIVING EVE AFFAIR WAS ENJOYED BY A LARGE CROWD

That it takes more than a rain or snow storm to keep Tonopah people from attending a Pythian dance, was shown at the annual ball given Thanksgiving evening at the Miners' Exchange hall. First it started to rain, during the evening, and then it turned to snow. But the crowd kept arriving until at the time the grand march started there was hardly room enough in the hall to stand.

The interior of the ball room could not have presented a more cozy appearance, for the committee in charge had utilized all the crepe in town for decorations. The colors, blue, yellow and red, shown out everywhere.

The coolness of the evening made dancing all the more enjoyable, and with the excellent music furnished by Voss and Tatro, nothing more could be desired.

In the many past events it has been the custom of half those in attendance to return to their homes at the supper intermission, but at this affair hardly a dozen couples failed to put in re-appearance when dancing was resumed. It was not until after 3 o'clock that the strains of "Home Sweet Home" announced the conclusion of the affair and it was with reluctance that the tired but happy trippers of the light fantastic departed for their different domiciles.

JURY IN THE SHERIDAN CASE NOT COMPLETE

SPECIAL TO THE BONANZA
GOLDFIELD, Nov. 26.—One peremptory challenge each was exercised by the state and defense today in the work of securing a jury to try Jack Sheridan, charged with wife murder, which has been under way in the district court here since Monday. This leaves the state with three and the defense with four peremptory challenges unused. On adjournment of court for the day, the jury box was full, and in all 49 veniremen have been examined. It is almost certain that alcoholic insanity will be the plea, and if such proves to be the case, the state will find it rather difficult to secure a conviction. One point in favor of the defendant is that a motive for the crime will have to be proven.

SAVED FROM SAW IN NICK OF TIME

BATTLES FOR LIFE WITH AN ASSAULT OF OVERPOWERING STRENGTH

George E. Newman owes his life to his quickness in slipping the belt off the pulley of a circular saw which he was operating in the Empire Lumber company yards on Tuesday night. He had been attacked from behind and beaten into a semi-unconscious condition by Lute Peters, better known as "Joe," who developed maniacal strength. He recovered his senses just at the awful moment when his adversary was dragging him to the guiding table of the circular saw, which was revolving at a frightful speed. Instantly he realized the intention of the madman, and then it was that Newman thrust out his foot and threw off the belt in the nick of time. A stranger passing came to his rescue, and the interference

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM MEETS DEFEAT

Goldfield 11
Tonopah 0
And it wasn't a bad game at that. The local high school players were some 20 or 30 pounds lighter to the man than the Goldfield team, but what they lacked in avoirdupois the boys made up in grit.

The Goldfield high school team arrived shortly after noon and were met by the local aggregation. At 3 o'clock sharp time was sounded at the California Heights grounds and in an instant the field looked like a conglomeration of legs, arms and heads. It was a fierce battle from the start and the first few plays sufficed to show that the visitors were there with the brawn. The score at the end of the first half stood 11 to 0, with the Goldfield boys in the lead.

The Tonopah team took a brace in the second half and a half dozen times were in the close vicinity of their opponents' goal. Only once was the Tonopah goal in danger and a score was averted by a punt to safety.

With proper training the local high school team would be able to make the southerners sit up and take notice. It is probable that the third game will be arranged for, to be played somewhere around Christmas.

The members of the Goldfield team were the guests of the Tonopah boys after the game and returned yesterday morning to their homes in the south.
